Who Are We?

We are a team of dedicated high school students from Henry M. Gunn Senior High School. We are passionate about computer science education, and we strongly believe that hackathons are the best way to spread the hacker culture.

About

GunnHacks is Gunn High School's annual, student-run hackathon. As the tenth iteration of this event, GunnHacks 10.0 will bring together student developers from across the country for an in-person, weekend-long high school hackathon.

We emphasize learning through doing, and welcome students regardless of programming experience. Your support will help us provide our hackers with workshops, swag, food, and/or prizes.

Why Sponsor?

As a school in the heart of Silicon Valley, we attract coders from all over the country — our virtual hackathon in 2021 hosted over 250 participants and over 80 projects.

Hackathons offer sponsors the opportunity to form relationships with coders of the future. Many of our attendees are first-time coders, so by promoting your product/API/tool, you can have a significant impact on what they learn. Many are also experienced coders, who have the passion to explore new ideas and products, including yours!
